

Why Join the League of Women Voters?

The League:

Is Established - LWV is over 100 years old and counting.

Is Respected - nonpartisanship means we are beholden to no one party or person

Provides education - the LWV strives to educate voters on the issues at all levels of government and to educate members on important issues through study

Provides leadership development- the LWV trains individuals to become leaders in any environment

Builds Community - the LWV brings individuals together for the common good

Makes a difference through education and advocacy

Comment from League member: Joining the League prepared me to be an active voter in Indiana.

As a California transplant the 1993 election process in Indiana was all new to me. I did not know about townships and judges running under a party affiliation. I quickly learned through the many resources available to me as League member. LWV continues to contribute to my voting education through formal programs and informal discussions. It has also provided me the opportunity to be active in the community in an area I consider very important regarding citizenship participation. The League provides me with knowledge, education and an opportunity to participate in our shared democracy.
